Dear Mr. Peonides,

I am sorry for the delay in sending you the enclosed photographs, which were taken at the dinner last October for the two Commonwealth Prize winning writers from India, Githa Hariharan and Rajkamal Jha, which you were good enough to attend. I hope you like them and that they will be a nice souvenir of what was, for me, a very pleasant evening, in good part because you were able to join us.

I must also thank you for sending me, very much earlier, a copy of a particularly nice group photograph taken on the same occasion.

You must have received the invitation that I had sent you for the inauguration by the First Lady, on February 2, 2001, of a really striking photographic exhibition, India: In the New Millennium, at the Municipal Art Gallery in Limassol (311, 28th October Avenue, near the Limassol Zoo on the beach road, Tel. 05-586212). I did not spot you on that occasion, and if I missed you because I was tied up with the President and Mrs. Clerides, I am sorry. However, if you were not able to make it then or to my lecture on the same premises, in the middle of the exhibition, on February 7, it would be a good idea to go down one of these days and see it. They have doubled its duration from 2 weeks to 4 because of popular demand, especially from schools, and it will now be on till March 2. You will not regret the effort. Please also tell as many of your friends as possible about it, for I naturally want it to have maximum exposure.

Best regards

Yours sincerely,

(Shyamala B. Cowsik)
